Downtown Art Walk

Bert Green Fine Art
5/Main Streets, Downtown LA

Flavorpill Los Angeles, February 14, 2008

The highlights of this month's Downtown Art Walk include Megan Geckler's arresting window installation for Bert Green Fine Art, a translucent, geometric color-riot made of tape and patience; Intervention, a three-man exhibition of progressive abstractions and deceptively sweet drawings at Pharmaka; and the grand reopening of Art Murmur Gallery a few doors down from its old digs, with a reinstallation of Yun Bai's floral-themed, porno-based collages. This month's free neighborhood Art Walk DASH shuttle even features commentary from entertaining local historians Mike the Poet, Matt Goulet, and Esotouric's Richard Schave.
